House Republican Caucus Rejects Newest Tax Package

GOP Ignores Personal Plea By Governor

Harrisburg (AP) — House Republicans last night ignored a personal plea by Gov. John S. Fine and turned down a new 130 million dollar tax package.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, said there were 40 votes against the keystone of the package —a 2 per cent sales tax on automobiles, trucks and buses.

Ninety-one of the 109-member House GOP caucus were on hand for the crucial vote.

Asked by newsmen as to what will be the next step by the House GOP leadership in devising a tax

Harrisburg (AP) — The House last night received a bill to levy a 2 per cent sales tax on automobiles, trucks and buses although the plan was soundly defeated in the Republican caucus.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, sponsored the measure designed to raise 60 million dollars in the next two years. It was sent to the Ways and Means Committee.

package to close a 118 million dollar gap in the commonwealth's $1,400,000,000 budget, Johnson threw up his hands in disgust and said sternly:

"I don't know. I really don't know."

Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader who sat in on conferences leading to development of the package, said there was "nothing to discuss" by him until the GOP leadership gets caucus approval of a tax program.

The House Republicans spent 3½ hours in their closed session, including 15 minutes for an appeal by the governor to enact a tax program quickly to prevent "great harm" to the Republican party.

Johnson said opposition to the tax package ranged from 40 against the automobile sales tax to 17 against the proposal to increase the 4 cents a pack cigarette tax to 5 cents.

House Republicans also abandoned any attempt to revive the defeated 1 per cent sales tax. Today is the deadline for reviving that levy for the remainder of the 1953 Legislature.

Asked if any of the taxes voted down by his Republican colleagues would be presented to the Democratic side for the latter's support, Johnson said:

"We didn't have 105 votes on any of them and I don't know if we gave enough for the Democrats to go along with."

Johnson said the House Rules Committee would meet again today to lay strategy for breaking the long-standing stalemate on taxes.

Although the GOP leader would not concede outright death of the new tax package, he said, "That's right," to a newsman's query as to whether "the heart of the package was kicked out" by the action of the Republican caucus.

Johnson said the principal opposition to the automobile sales tax was that it was "a tax on a necessity of life" and shouldn't be considered a luxury.

He had no comment when asked if nine automobile dealers who are members of the House led the opposition to the auto sales levy.

Earlier, the governor said he was "very hopeful" that the newest tax package developed at a conference with him of Republican and Democratic assembly leaders would clear the caucus.

He told newsmen after his appearance before the caucus that not only the Republican party but "also the commonwealth of Pennsylvania would suffer" from the tax stalemate.

"If the House Republicans act with decision and prompitude lost ground could be recovered in the commonwealth's relations with industry and expansion of industry," Fine told newsmen.

The governor also said the GOP caucus was told that party responsibility requires it to act quickly on taxes.

Crewman Killed As Ships Collide

New York (AP) — Four laboring tugs last night towed into New York Harbor a Brazilian freighter badly smashed Sunday night in a collision with the American tanker Gulftrade off the fog bound coast of New Jersey.

Aboard the stricken vessel was the body of a Brazilian crewman who gave his life in an attempt to ease the crash impact. He was the only victim. The collision opened a gash from the freighter's deck to its waterline.

Mr. Ostrom said Mr. Hall will continue to supervise the operation of the radio station but that many of the managerial duties will be assumed by Chester S. Miller, recently appointed assistant manager of WVPO.

Prior to becoming manager of WVPO, Mr. Hall was assistant advertising manager of The Daily Record. He first started with the Ottaway organization in Endicott, N. Y., in 1937.

Mr. Hall is active in many civic organizations in the county. He is a member of the Stroudsburg Lions Club and last year completed a term as district governor of Lions International.

He is vice-president of the Monroe County Community Chest, a director of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and a member of the East Stroudsburg Borough Council. Wheeler Accuses Justice Douglas Of Treason

Washington, (AP)—Rep. Wheeler (DGa) yesterday accused Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas of treason as part of six specific grounds for impeachment.

Wheeler took the House floor for an hour's discussion of his resolution to impeach Douglas for "high crimes and misdemeanors" as an aftermath to Douglas' stay of execution to atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The full court vacated the stay, although the majority stressed the opinion that Douglas acted within his authority in granting it. The Rosenbergs were executed a few hours afterward, on June 19.

In advance of House committee hearings today, Wheeler declared he was not basing his impeachment action on any question of Douglas' authority.

Floor Fight Averted As Reed Calls Committee Meeting To Consider Profits Tax Bill

Washington, (AP)—Republican Rep. Daniel Reed of New York called off his committee blockade against President Eisenhower's excess profits tax bill yesterday and a test of administration strength on the House floor was averted at the last minute.

While personally refusing to surrender in his opposition to continuing the profits tax from July 1 to Dec. 31, Reed called a meeting of the ways and means committee, which he heads, for July 8.

In tense, backstage maneuvers, Eisenhower forces won assurances from several members that the committee, which Reed previously had refused to convene, would send a tax extension bill to the floor.

With those assurances, House leaders dramatically called off an effort to bypass the tax-writing committee and force a bitter floor showdown.

The decision to avert the showdown left unanswered the question of whether the administration would have won had it made the fight on the issue of bypassing Reed's committee.

Speaker Martin, backing the President, told newsmen only a few minutes before the House met that he was certain of winning if a vote were taken. He counted on the support of 40 to 50 Democrats and claimed not more than 20 or so Republicans would vote against the GOP leadership.

But he added that he preferred to settle the issue without a fight over procedure if possible.

Opponents of the bypassing procedure were not as optimistic in their claims as was Martin. Some expected defeat; others believed they would win by a narrow margin.

The upshot was twofold:

One—The administration avoided what was shaping up as a close and spectacular floor fight over the bypassing procedure—a fight sure to leave gaping wounds in party harmony.

Two—It still seemed certain to get what it wants—extension of the tax. Leaders on both sides have conceded the tax extension will skim through Congress once it reaches the House floor, regardless of how it gets there.

The settlement was assured only one day before the tax expires. But the levy, which ranges up to 82 per cent on corporation profits above those earned in past periods, can be renewed retroactively.

It affects relatively few firms, but Eisenhower urged a six-month extension to raise $800,000,000.

McCarthy May Call Truman

Washington, (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said yesterday he may invite former President Harry S. Truman to testify in a new investigation of Americans suspected of atomic spying for Soviet Russia.

McCarthy said he wants to know whether Truman turned over to the Justice Department a list of 150 American citizens alleged to have been involved in the sensational Canadian spy case of the 1940s.

Alfred Kohlberg, New York importer and publisher, reported in mid-1950 that such a secret list had been given to Truman personally in 1945 by then Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King. In an open letter, Kohlberg said not one arrest had resulted in the intervening five years.

McCarthy said he will first ask the Justice Department if it received the list from Truman. If not, he said, he will ask his Senate investigations subcommittee for permission to invite Truman to testify.

Flood Waters Recede; 457 Known Dead

Tokyo, Tuesday (AP) — Debris-clogged flood waters receded today on the southern island of Kyushu after taking more than 400 lives, leaving a million homeless and wreaking damage estimated at 280 million dollars.

But a typhoon headed toward the stricken island and the Weather Bureau said if it kept its course the storm would strike in a week or less.

National police counted 457 dead, 646 missing and 827 injured.

Some 350,000 homes were destroyed. Torrents and landslides wiped out whole villages. One hundred coal mines were flooded. Officials feared that as many as 40 may have to be abandoned because of prohibitive draining costs.

Japan's biggest steel works at Yawata were shut down.

Railroad engineers said it would take 15 days to get water out of the huge two-mile undersea railroad tunnel linking Kyushu with Honshu island to the north and get it back in operation.

All crops in the Chikugo Valley, the rice basin of Kyushu, were lost. Government officials estimated it would take five years to rehabilitate all wreckage caused by the floods.

Wiley Claims Chinese May Turn On Reds

Washington (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) told the Senate yesterday Russia's control over its satellites is already beginning to crumble and he predicted that Red China may be next to turn against the Kremlin.

"The powder keg of subjugated peoples could blow sky-high overnight," he said.

The Wisconsin senator, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made the statement in urging the Senate to approve an administration-sponsored bill authorizing $5,318,000,000 in foreign aid.

Following Wiley's lead-off speech, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R1NJ) told the Senate he hoped the measure would be approved without substantial change as "a vote of confidence" in President Eisenhower's foregin policy.

Sen. Knowland of California, acting GOP floor leader, asked the Senate to be ready for a vote on the bill tonight.

Wiley said the Eisenhower administration will be "hard boiled" about spending the money because it will take an average of $39 out of every American's pocket.

Britain Moves For Meeting Of Ministers

London (AP) — Ailing Sir Winston Churchill's substitute government moved yesterday to arrange an early American-British-French meeting on world problems demanding urgent attention.

There was immediate speculation that the proposed ministerial-level talks will replace, rather than precede, the thrice postponed Bermuda conference between Churchill, President Eisenhower and the new French Premier, Joseph Laniel. A foreign office spokesman said, however, the three still planned to get together later.

That Big Three conference was postponed twice because France didn't have a Premier and the third time, last Friday, because Churchill's doctors said the 78-year-old Prime Minister was too tired to carry on the heavy duties of government and needed a long rest.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, heading the administration while Churchill convalesces, told Parliament Britain has negotiated with Washington and Paris for an interim meeting to discuss "certain urgent problems of common concern."

He said Britain would be represented by Lord Salisbury, lord president of the Council whom Churchill late yesterday appointed as acting foreign secretary during the absence of Anthony Eden, who is convalescing in the U. S. from a third gall bladder operation.

The problems to be discussed at the proposed parley obviously would include the Korean truce crisis, prospects of uniting Germany, Allied policies in the Middle East and Asia.

Ex-POW Held 'Undesirable'

San Francisco, (AP)—Paul Schnur Jr., one of the first American prisoners released by the Communists at Panmunjom last April, has been discharged from the Army as "disloyal or subversive," Sixth Army headquarters said yesterday.

Schnur, 24, returned to America on an Air Force plane carrying 22 former Red captives classified by the Army as "temporary victims" of Communist propaganda.

The ex-POW was awarded the Bronze Star for valor after his release by the Communists. Then he was taken to Letterman Army Hospital here. His family lives here where his father is a former CIO labor leader.

His "undesirable discharge" was ordered by the adjutant general's office in Washington, a Sixth Army spokesman said. The discharge is not a dishonorable one, and does not deprive the recipent of any rights or benefits as a veteran.

Army Regulations term it:

"A direct discharge to individuals who have been determined by investigation to be disloyal or subversive but in whose cases trial by court martial has been decreed not feasible or warranted."

Schnur's father headed the local Committee to Save the Rosenbergs, and now manages real estate for Vincent Hallinan, 1952 candidate for president on the leftist Independent Progressive ticket. The elder Schnur has been active in the Progressive party. He once was secretary-treasurer of the CIO council here.

Fighting Drops Off; Reds Lose 11,200 Men In Week

Seoul, Tuesday, (AP)—Fighting on the blazing Western Korean Front dropped off sharply today after battered South Korean infantry fell back from four hills north of Seoul.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported inflicting the greatest casualties on the Communists since November, 1951, the bulk of them in stemming the big Chinese drive on one of the historic invasion routes to the South Korean capital.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor's headquarters announced 11,200 Chinese and North Korean troops were killed or wounded during the week ended Sunday. Yesterday's bloody fighting west of Yonchon would boost the figure even higher.

Allied casualties for the week were not announced. The Communist figure topped any week since 13,244 casualties were reported the week of Nov. 17-23, 1951, when both sides were trying for the most advantageous cease-fire line in event of a truce.

Last week more than 10,000 Communist casualties were reported, reflecting the Chinese drive which forced back the main Allied line on the East-Central Front.

The comparative lull in the fierce action on the Western Front followed what probably was the greatest Communist artillery barrage of the war.

One front-line officer said that although the fighting was limited to several narrow frontages, the action was as severe as anything in World War II—with even heavier artillery concentration in some cases.

The air war took an unusual turn. Navy Lt. Guy P. Bordelon shot down two Communist propeller-driven Yak18s 50 miles south of Seoul — the same planes which caused an alert in the war-rubbled republic capital last night.

The Fifth Air Force said both crashed in the Iideland area south of Suwon. It was probably the Red Air Force's deepest penetration of Allied territory.

U. S. Sabre jets shot down a Communist MIG15 jet over Northwest Korea this morning while shielding Allied fighter-bombers striking at five rail bridges in the Sariwon area. The kill was credited to Maj. John F. Bolt, Sanford, Fla.

On the ground Monday, South Korean troops withdrew from four hills north of Seoul under pressure of the big Communist barrage and a drive by a Chinese division.

Long-Hoarded Food Given To East Germans

Berlin, (AP)—Communists threw open long-hoarded supplies of food yesterday to quiet the rumbling of new unrest among the sullen East German workers whose rebellion June 17 brought Soviet martial law.

Despite the stern measures enforced by Red Army troops and armor ever since they quelled the rebellion, there were several attemped demonstrations for more food late last week.

Communist bosses moved swiftly, however, and yesterday the Red press claimed they had whipped the food crisis.

Public larders were opened and food reserves long denied the hungry workers were distributed. Food stocks were rushed in to critical areas. Imports from other Soviet satellites were increased.

Communist newspapers claimed that even the farmers who had courted jail by failing to meet state-ordered crop quotas were beginning to bring grain, pigs and vegetables into the formerly bare city market places. As food supplies improved, strikers resumed work.

Everywhere throughout the riot-shaken Soviet zone the embers of revolt appeared dying. The 300,000 man Russian Army seemed in complete control.

Western military experts yesterday admitted they were impressed —and a bit alarmed—at the efficient way the Soviet troops had smashed the widespread attack by two million rioting strikers.

Nine Children Die Of Lead Poisoning

New York (AP) — The city health department, noting that nine children have died in recent weeks of lead poisoning, yesterday urged parents not to use lead-containing paint on indoor surfaces.

Jerome Trichter, deputy health commissioner, said two 3-year-olds died in Brooklyn Saturday. Three other children are in hospitals as a result of lead poisoning, he added.

General Urges Reds To Sign Without Rhee

Seoul, Tuesday (AP) — U. N. Commander Gen. Mark Clark suggested to the Reds yesterday that the Allies and the Communists immediately sign a Korean armistice without approval of balky South Korean President Syngman Rhee, but today the Red Pyongyang radio quickly spurned the offer.

Clark made his proposal in a letter handed to the Reds at Panmunjom after another secret session with Rhee.

Clark emphasized that he doesn't control the South Korean government but does command its army.

He promised the Reds his command would do its best to get Rhee's cooperation in a truce and said that, if necessary, the U. N. Command would use armed force "to the limits of its ability" to assure observance of a truce.

The first Red reaction to the letter came today from the North Korean Communist radio at Pyongyang. It said the letter was not acceptable, showed "no sincerity," and was "inconsistent" with facts.

The broadcast, monitored by Kyodo news agency, in Tokyo, said the letter gave "no guarantee" on the future conduct of the South Korean government and that therefore the Communists could not accept it.

The radio said the letter should have been written "with more sincerity."

The Pyongyang broadcast reiterated the Red stand that Rhee's release of more than 27,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners from U. N. prison camps recently was the result of what it called intrigue between the United States and the South Korean government. Clark specifically denied this in his letter.

The broadcast insisted, as Red delegates did at the last full scale truce meeting in Panmunjom June 19, that the freed prisoners be recaptured and return to the compounds.

U. S. presidential envoy Walter S. Robertson called on Rhee today for the fifth time in as many days in the continuing effort to get the Korean leader to modify his opposition to a truce.

This time Robertson went to Rhee's mansion alone.

Robertson said after the meeting: "President Rhee and I are trying to work out a solution which will be acceptable to our two governments and at the same time sacrifice the principles of neither."

The assistant U. S. secretary of state added, in a chat with newsmen who flagged down his car as he left Rhee's home, "obviously there are points which need clarification in our negotiations. Otherwise there would be no need for these meetings."

Robertson and Rhee talked about 55 minutes today. The Washington representative said he would meet with Rhee again tomorrow, but did not mention the time.

South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yun Tai told newsmen today the Robertson-Rhee talks were going "smoothly" and should end "in a matter of days."

Pyun said Clark's letter to the Reds calling for a quick signing of an armistice contained "some serious points that require careful study." He declined to list the points.

There was no comment from Rhee Monday on Clark's letter to the Communist leaders—but the aged President's subordinate expressed resentment.

Clark's action in sending the letter before Rhee's objections were overcome indicated either that he expects Rhee to be brought in line soon or that a truce can be signed while Rhee still objects.

Robertson, assistant U. S. secretary of state, further fanned the fires of speculation by telling newsmen: 1. He had seen Clark's letter "many times." 2. "Yes" it meant the Allies were going ahead with signing a truce. 3. But he was "still in conference" with Rhee.

Robertson, who previously had expressed optimism, replied to questions as to whether the talks were snagged by saying "I can't say they aren't." Rhee wants most of all a military security pact with the United States.

South Korea's signature is not required on a truce but its cooperation is vital to make one work.

Winchell Admits He Was 'Used' By Persons Desiring To Circulate Communist Line

New York, (AP)—Colmunist Walter Winchell testified yesterday that he had been "used" at times by persons desiring to circulate the Communist party line.

Winchell's testimony came during the taking of pre-trial depositions in a $1,525,000 libel suit brought against him by the New York Post and its editor, James A. Wechsler.

The colmunist and newscaster is accused of seeking in his syndicated column and radio and television broadcasts to convey the impression that Wechsler and the Post were Communist party supporters and disloyal to the U. S.

Named as defendants with Winchell were the Hearst Corp. and its King Features Syndicate, which distributes Winchell's newspaper column; American Broadcasting Co. whose network carries his broadcasts, and the Gruen Watch Co. his air sponsor.

The deposition testimony was taken yesterday at the office of the law firm representing the plaintiffs, with former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind, a member of the firm, conducting the questioning.

Rifkind, drawing Winchell's attention to some of his published writings, asked whether the columnist had not been duped into publishing items that paralleled the Communist party line.

Winchell answered that "maybe" he had.

Rifkind read aloud several statements Winchell had made about Russia and asserted that Winchell had "plugged" a book by Communists.

The attorney then asked whether it would not be fair to say that Winchell had been "used" at times by persons desiring to circulate the Communist party line."

"I would say yes," replied Winchell.

"And that your column was used as a place to plant Communist propaganda?" Rifkind continued.

"It could happen, yes," Winchell said. "Anybody is wide open to that."

Rifkind asserted that one of his purposes was to prove that Winchell knew that occasional concurrence with the Communist party line does not necessarily mean that a man is a Communist or a fellow-traveler.

Bass Season Opens In State On Wednesday

Harrisburg (AP) — The black bass fishing season in Pennsylvania will start at 1:01 a. m. (EDT) Wednesday, July 1, the Pennsylvania Fish Commission said yesterday. The season will end Nov. 30.

It will also be the season for pike-perch, the walleyed pike or Susquehanna salmon, pickerel, muskellunge and pike.

The commission said that at the seasons' close during the past two years fish wardens and fishermen reported more smallmouthed black bass in streams than at any previous time.

The commission also pointed out that Pennsylvania's fight against stream pollution has opened more waters to bass fishing.

Only black bass nine or more inches in length may be kept. The maximum catch is six a day.

The legal size and creel limits for the other fish are:

Walleyed, 12 inches, six a day; pickerel, 15 inches, six a day; muskellunge, 24 inches, two a day; and pike, 16 inches, four a day.

Violators will be fined $10 for each fish over the legal limit.

Promised Lake Pond Blessed At Ceremony

Promised Land — A protective blessing was uttered at Promised Land Pond here Sunday during a Catholic ceremony derived from Apostolic days.

It was the second annual blessing of the water and boats. Purpose, said Rev. Vincent Harrity, assistant pastor of Pocono Catholic Misions, is to protect users of the pond against drowning and other mishaps.

"There have been no drownings in the lake since the first blessing last year," Father Harrity said.

The blessing, which is expected to become traditional at the opening of the State park recreation pond to summer season fun seekers, is held on the Sunday before the Fourth of July.

The rites started at 3 p. m., with several thousand watching. Water was obtained from the pond and carried to an altar nearby, where it was blessed by Rev. Edmund MacMahon, C. P., Scranton.

Then, using the blessed pond water, Father MacMahon blessed the pond itself and the boats and watching people. Benediction followed, by Rt. Rev. C. A. McHugh, pastor of St. Mary of the Mount Church, Mount Pocono.

Dairymen Plan Meeting, Social

Young Cooperators of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association will conduct a box social and dance following the meeting of league members from Lackawanna, Monroe and Wyoming Counties at the Mill City Grange Hall, July 2, at 8:30 p.m. Boxes for the social will be provided by the women.

Among subjects for discussion at the sub-district's business meeting will be President Eisenhower's recent proclamation setting import quotas on dairy products at a figure approximately 375 million pounds of milk—equivalent less than 1952 imports.

With this proclamation the dairy industry won an important victory in its three-year fight to protect already overburdened American markets from wholesale invasion by dairy imports. The President's action was closely in line with recommendations of the National Milk Producers Federation and the Department of Agriculture.

Life Saving, Swim Classes Scheduled

Plans for a course in senior life saving and classes for beginners in swimming were announced yesterday by Lew Hastie, director of the East Stroudsburg playground operation.

Hastie said registrations will be received today for the beginners' swimming classes. Girls' classes will be held every Tuesday and Friday morning and those for boys every Monday and Wednesday.

The director said it is important that registrations for both classes be made today.

Senior life saving courses will run Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights this week, and Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights next week. Classes will start at 6:30 p.m.

Registrations for senior life saving will be taken tomorrow.

A junior life saving course of instruction will be held at a later date.

The mutineers from the Bounty, British exploration ship, settled in Pitcairn Island in 1789, but their descendants were transferred to Norfolk Island, 400 miles northeast of New Zealand, in 1856 and only about 40 of them ever returned to Pitcairn.

Valuables Should Be Left With Playground Aides

Parents and youngsters utilizing the facilities of the Stroudsburg playground were advised yesterday that neither the attendants nor municipal authorities will be responsible for valuables unless they are turned in for safe keeping.

Playground officials said yesterday that "there has been some light-fingered activity" involving losses to some playground patrons. All cases have been reported to police.

Officials emphasized that wallets, watches, or valuables can only be given assured safety if they are turned in at one of the two playground shacks where an attendant is on duty to care for them.

Stroudsburg Pool Closed For Cleaning

Stroudsburg playground swimming pool will be closed today for its regular cleaning and scrubdown treatment.

Refilling will begin immediately after attendants complete the cleaning operation.

Under direction of Stroudsburg council the pool water is checked regularly to insure the highest possible degree of purity for those who utilize the swimming facilities.

Nothing But The Best

The Pocono Mountains Motor Club tonight will be formally drawn into the matter of developing Rt. 611 from its junction with the new Delaware Bridge at Delaware Water Gap so that the motoring public will not be hampered, as they are now, with traffic delays in Stroudsburg.

This organization, like all of its affiliated motor clubs throughout the nation, has established a solid reputation for fighting the battles of the motoring public.

The group and its 57-member American Automobile Association Clubs throughout Pennsylvania has been just as zealous in fighting the battles of the State Highway Department in many instances.

Motorists from every section of Monroe County and practically every walk of life make up the membership of the Auto Club. This, too, is important to consideration of the problem which the club will receive tonight.

It is our belief that the solution to the Stroudsburg-Rt. 611 project will have a direct effect on every part of the county. Rt. 611 at Delaware Water Gap is the main gateway from the metropolitan East to Monroe County. It is also a major gateway for traffic out of Philadelphia, although Rt. 209 picks up a major share of Philadelphia traffic off Rt. 12.

More than just the Stroudsburgs are now affected by this traffic problem. It follows that more than just the Stroudsburgs will be affected by its solution.

Any project will cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania money.

We'd like to point out that what might at the moment appear to be the more costly solution, may actually be the cheapest in terms of long range results. We'd like to also remind those who are now so earnestly considering this problem that good authority says half the cost of this Rt. 611 problem will be paid out of Federal funds.

We'd like to call to the attention of those considering the project that all around us, major construction by the highway department is going on to solve the same problem.

For instance, the relocation and reconstruction of Rt. 22 around Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton is a major, expensive project, but it will answer the long-range purpose of freeing those regions from costly traffic delays.

We'd like to point out another project, plans for which were set in motion last week, to handle a similar traffic situation at Scranton. Here, a re-routing will ease the jam of traffic by letting motorists out of the Scranton City traffic and provide an easier flow around the City and to Avoca Airport.

It is rather obvious that in view of these projects by the State Highway Department, we should get nothing but the best possible solution to the Rt. 611 traffic problem at Stroudsburg.

There dare be no compromises for the sake of saving money when a short-changed plan would serve nothing but the present or immediate future.

No one knows better than the Motor Clubs of America that highway planning has too often been short-sighted. Here, then, is an opportunity to come up with an all-time answer to a traffic problem which is one of the most important this region has ever faced.

Happy Delusion

Shed a tear for Kaichiro Eguchi, late of the imperial Japanese Army, who has finally come out of hiding in the Philippine jungles. There since 1945, he didn't know World War II was over.

Pfc. Eguchi is a rugged character, obviously, but we predict that, after taking a good look, he'll decide maybe he should have stayed in the jungles.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

The law permitting bars in New York theaters has been signed by the mayor, and we anticipate the following first-night review:

"Tangled Moods" the new drama which opened at the Bard Theatre last evening offered little to hold the interest of the audience. The same could not be said of the theater bar, which scored a hit of proportions. It had everything. Seldom has a saloon scored so heavily. Before the first act of the new play was half over, it was obvious that the barroom was set for a run, having all the ingredients of a Broadway hit. There was action to the hilt. The dialogue, while not sparkling, had general appeal; the interest was sustained and the performance by the principals more than adequate, with the possible exception of the fourth bar boy from the left, a "Butch" Mooney, who was giving his first public performance and was obviously nervous and uncertain. Some might say that "Pudge" Stookey, the head bartender, was not the type, but we disagree. He forgot his lines once or twice, but as they were limited to "Water or ginger ale?" and "Okay buddie" it made little difference. He brought poise and understanding to a difficult role.

His understudy, Steve Gilligan, showed the benefit of previous experience, having obtained his start in a small Greenwich Village cafe where he attracted wide attention. He performed in the Catskills last summer and also had the advantage of one season in a saloon near the Winter Garden. There was a fine performance, too, by "Dutch" Hofnagel, a trouper who had performed from coast to coast over the years. His first appearance was made in a cafe near the famous Empire Theatre at the age of nine when he was carried on in the arms of his father, himself a well-known mixer of the era. He was sure of himself last night and showed a superiority in getting out of futile arguments with customers, which was nothing less than sensational Credit must be given also to "Red" Butts, who made his appearance without any previous professional experience, having been "discovered" at a private cocktail party where the smoothness of his performance won him the Broadway trial. He will go far, provided he corrects a tendency to use the same olive twice. The story was a simple one concerning man's eternal search for relaxation, a few laughs and an excuse for not going to bed early. Effective indeed was a background of soft music, tinkling glasses, laughter, and the buzz of many voices. This helped to convey the mood of excitement and uncertainty of purpose. The choreography by the Rainbow Brewery Corporation in cooperation with Federated Distillers was excellent. The direction was flawless and the pace breathless, although that is perhaps not quite the word. Altogether, the saloon gave a zest to the new theatrical season and enlivened a dull spell in the theater. In the opening scenes it seemed that the performance needed tightening up, but no criticism could be made on the point for very long. As the evening wore on it was evident that "tightness" was not at all lacking. The story became somewhat incoherent toward the end of the evening, but this was natural. We predict a long run, especially if a tendency to use extra small bar glasses is corrected.

Paramount is to do a revival of "The Covered Wagon," epic of the silents . . . Bringing it up to date, perhaps, by using a hard-top Conestoga, Indians with 3-D war whoops and buffaloes with automatic steering . . . Gasoline companies have hiked prices again . . . Determined to bring back the horse and buggy, no doubt . . . Big business has been brought back to the merry-go-round at Palisades Park, N. J., by the abolition of the brass ring and the substitution of water pistols for the small fry . . . Shadowy figures of bandits are kept behind the organ and if a kit hits one he gets a free ride . . . Now for a ferris wheel from which a stage coach can be stuck up, and a tunnel of love with Indians! . . . An Ontario theater passes the plate instead of charging for tickets and is doing well . . .

Robert S. Allen Reports

ROK Army Commanders Slap Down Rhee Two Times

Washington — The Gotterdammerung saga of President Syngman Rhee the past fews weeks is even more astounding than the sensational published reports.

Actually, it's a fantastic story of a struggle within a struggle.

Only time will reveal the details of this fierce and involved conflict, but the following highlights can now be made known:

While the aged South Korean ruler has gripped world attention by his defiant clashing with Washington authorities, he has been furiously waging an unnoticed battle with the UN military command.

This tense backstage mele has been over the control of the South Korean army—next to the Reds, th largest fighting force in Korea.

In the final showdowns, this inner struggle may be the more crucial of the two. The ROK army can depose Rhee any time it decides to do that. His iron-handed domination of South Korea does not include its fighting men.

The ROK army and its division and Corps commanders have not taken orders from Rhee.

He tried to get them to do that, but didn't get away with it. That's why nothing came of those threatening hints that General Paik Sun Yup, Chief of Staff., and other senior ROK commanders might be fired if they didn't side with Rhee against the U. S. They let him know quickly and forcefully that he was talking through his hat.

Showing him — They did it twice, with the hearty support of General Mark Clark and General Maxwell Taylor, commander of the Eighth Army, of which the ROK forces are the major component.

The first slapdown of Rhee occurred when he attempted to gain control of a large number of troops undergoing training. He ordered they be sent to Seoul, ostensibly for the purpose of participating in an anti-truce demonstration. But ROK commanders strongly suspected his real intent was to incorporate these men into his police and so-called "security guards" — and thus strengthen his personal armed forces.

The training troops did not go to Seoul. Rhee raged and threatened, but the ROK commanders paid no attention to him—and that was that.

They again disregarded him when he tried to reshuffle ROK officers. Rhee gave several reasons for this scheme, all of them phony. His orders were bluntly ignored.

This fateful backstage struggle between Rhee and the ROK army is not new. It has been growing for months. Behind it are a number of factors.

Chief among them is the big difference in age and viewpoint between Rhee and his clique of politicos and the military leaders. Rhee admits to being 78 and his principal henchmen are also old men. All are feudalistic in outlook. Average age of the ROK commanders is 32 and as a result of their close association with U. S. and other UN officers the ROKs think in modern terms.

Also, they bitterly resent Rhee's persistent attempts to exploit the army for his own ends.

When he vengefully retaliated against them by refusing to provide certain native supplies, the ROK commanders took steps to do that themselves. One of these revenue-raising measures consisted of going into the transportation business. The army operates buses for civilians in areas under its control. Another profitable activity has been selling firewood.

Rhee has tried to block these ventures, but without success.

The underlying reason for that is also General Mark Clark's ace card in the crucial struggle with Rhee over control of the ROK army.

Virtually all of that army is north of the 38th Parallel.

Of the 16 ROK divisions, 15 are in enemy territory they conquered with the aid of other UN forces. Thirteen of the divisions are in the frontlines, and two in reserve. The only ROK division not in North Korea is one in training south of the 38th Parallel.

The UN command has instantly and vigorously barred any attempt by Rhee to impose his rule above the 38th Parallel.

Every time he has attempted to do that, he has been bluntly told to keep out because he was intruding in territory under UN sovereignty. That stand has had the complete backing of ROK commanders.

When one division commander indicated harboring doubts, he was promptly shifted to where he couldn't do any harm.

Battle flashes—From the start of Rhee's recalcitrance against the Panmunjom negotiations, the UN command wanted to get tough with him. But the military leaders have been held back at the insistence of Secretary of State Dulles. He has contended a compromise can be worked out with the aged South Korean . . . Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson, who flew to Seoul last week, is a career diplomat who accompanied General George Marshall on his abortive mission to China to work out an agreement between Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists . . . General J. Lawton Collins went to Korea with Robertson at the request of the Pentagon and not the State Department. The Pentagon was not enthusiastic about Robertson's choice to work out an accord with Rhee and wanted Collins to keep a watchful eye on developments.

An eagle's nest usually is about three feet across and one foot high.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Crime Should Not Be On The Increase With All Of Our Character-Building

THE CRIME RECORD

It is not too easy to understand why crime is so steadily on the increase in the United States. J. Edgar Hoover's "Uniform Crime Reports" for 1952 shows an increase in crime for that year of 8.2 per cent over 1951. The large rises are in the categories of murder, negligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto thefts.

The incidence of crime is too often explained as due to unfortunate environmental conditions, poverty, bad housing, lack of playgrounds, juvenile boredom. Those physical factors are undoubtedly important, but they have steadily been improved in most of our large cities.

Slums existed in my childhood in New York. I recently passed through one of the worst slum areas in that city, East Harlem. Comparing it with the area where much of my childhood was spent, I find East Harlem as bad as the worst. On the other hand, other slum areas have practically been wiped out by new housing and playgrounds.

It is interesting to note that crime in cities has steadily increased since 1937, no matter what improvements have been made in environmental conditions. Also, that rural crime has increased at a slightly higher rate than in the cities. What is the nature of the American rural environment that crime should increase in areas where slum conditions do not exist?

The criminal mind is not easy to understand. For instance, with wages as high as they are and with work available, why should anyone want to be a pickpocket? The risk is great; the profits often small. Yet, in large cities, pickpocketing, particularly in dense shopping areas, increases and the skills, requiring considerable training and practice, are improved. Recently I read of a man being killed by a pair who found one dollar on him. He was an old and decrepit man who was not likely to have a sizable amount on his person. Why did this pair risk conviction for murder?

It used to be said that crime flourished where ignorance was general. This country has had more than a century of compulsory education. Every child, in most states, is required to attend at least the public schools, and in some states, the age limit is so set that the child has to go to high school. There should be fundamental literacy in most parts of the country.

Literacy is no measure of education or of character; yet it gives to the individual an opportunity to read, if not the Great Books, at least the headlines of newspapers, which prove that crime does not pay. Yet, knowing that seems to be no deterrent for the criminal mind, which always tends to believe that he can get away with it.

The incidence of broken homes cannot be ignored. The most recent figures would show that the United States has the highest divorce rate in the world—one divorce in every four marriages. Each divorce, where there are children, involves adjustments in the child's psychology which are not only difficult but are often hidden from the elders. The resentments of children are not always expressed nor, when expressed, always understood by parents. "He'll get over it" is a rationalization which may satisfy the parent, but does not solve the child's problems.

Competition among parents for the love of a child in a broken family may damage a child's character forever. The father who competes by bribery; the mother who constantly denounces an ex-husband; the multiplicity of fathers and mothers and the child's attempts to adjust to each new one provides no strengthening benefits to the child.

It is difficult to analyze the causes for the weakness of religion as a living force in American life. We have a great many religions and are, per capita, probably the most church-going of peoples. Whereas in many European and South American countries, the church is principally for women, in the United States, men go to church regularly as well.

Yet, crime increases steadily. It would be interesting if a grant were made by one of the Foundations to study the relationship of schooling and religious activities to crime. A sort of Kinsey report on the backgrounds of criminals, particularly juveniles, would perhaps show something.

With all the facilities for character-building in this country and with constantly improving environmental conditions, crime ought not to be on the increase.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

On a radio program—or maybe it was television—there was a comedy program. It was a burlesque of soap opera.

The prosecutor had finished his case. The defense attorney arose.

"Wait a minute," said the judge as he banged his gavel. "Don't you start giving me a lot of stuff. I have heard one side of the story. That's enough. I don't want to get all mixed up by hearing the other side, too. Ten years."

This was a comedy, of course. But there is more truth than fiction to it.

We Americans have a great faculty for emulating that judge.

We can't be bothered with both sides of a story.

OUR side is all we need to know, all we are interested in. Our standards are the only correct standards, we say. Our flag is the only valid flag. Our manners are the right manners.

The French have a saying "autres pays, autres moeurs"—other lands, other manners. But the word "Moeurs" also means ethics, morals, habits.

If you have ever been in Paris, London, Rome, Berlin you will easily understand what I mean.

The American tourist flaunts his money in their faces. He makes fun of their old buildings and exclaims, with a superior smile, "How quaint!"

He runs around the antique shops and calls their sacred relics "junk."

You know how we resent it when a foreign writer comes over here for a couple of weeks, and then goes home and writes a lot of critical articles about all the superficial shortcomings he has seen in our country.

But so many of our folks go to Europe on a sightseeing lark and make fools of themselves—ridiculing and criticizing everything they see over there.

They forget that what seems ridiculous to us may be sacred custom or tradition to them. They forget that Europeans are poor and that many of the things that seem petty to us are forced upon them by poverty and need.

One of the most telling examples of American bad taste happened during the coronation.

The British Broadcasting Company gave out networks the films of the event free, but with the understand that they should not be commercialized.

So every five minutes on television the solemn rites in Westminster Abbey were interrupted by commercials.

Just before the crowning of the Queen, a chimpanzee was flashed on the screen, and, in between the intoning of the coronation rites, there was an endless ballyhoo of

To us the coronation was only a magnificent spectacle. To the British it was a deeply felt religious ritual.

Can you imagine the howl of indignation in our country if the British had done anything as vulgar as that?

There will never be peace on earth until nations and peoples have learned to respect each other.

And mutual respect can never exist unless all nations—particularly ours—remember "Autres pays, autres moeurs."

Shields, Head Of Railroad Union, Dies

Cleveland, (AP)—James P. Shields, 64, strapping, silver-haired leader of the 80-000-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, died of a heart attack yesterday.

The soft-spoken union official, known as grand chief engineer, collapsed at his desk while conferring with two associates.

After a fire department rescue squad failed to revive him, he was rushed to a hospital, but was dead when he arrived.

Shields had been head of the union since 1950, succeeding the late Alvanley Johnston who retired after 25 years in office. He had been made temporary assistant grand chief engineer in 1939 and a full assistant three years later.

In 1946, he was elevated to first assistant grand chief engineer.

Of legalistic turn of mind, the 6-foot-1, 215-pound unionist had participated in most top brotherhood-management negotiations over the past 10 years. Many of the engineers rules adopted over the bargaining tables were drafted by him.

A native of Neoga, Ill., he started his railroad career as a fireman for the Michigan Central in 1906. Ten years later, he became an engineer while working for the Union Pacific at Rollins, Wyo.

He was elected to his first major union post in 1926, taking over as Evanston division chairman of the Union Pacific. In 1932, union members elected him general chairman of the railroad's Eastern division.

Authorities To Vaccinate 30,000 Children In First Mass Use Of Polio Serum

Montgomery, Ala., (AP)—Doctors, nurses and anxious parent-teacher vounteers worked feverishly yesterday to get ready for the nation's first mass gamma globulin vaccination of children in a polio-stricken community.

An estimated 30,000 boys and girls will be given precious shots of the polio-arresting serum in a desperate effort to stem an outbreak that has stricken 80 victims in the past few weeks. Three children have died.

Every child in Montgomery County under 10 years of age is eligible for the inoculation free of charge in a wholesale immunization program which starts today.

Never before has gamma globulin been used in such widespread preventative measures except on an experimental basis. Injections were given previously at Houston, Tex. and Sioux City, Iowa, where tests proved the serum can prevent polio if used in time.

Dr. A. H. Graham, the county health officer, said there probably won't be any noticeable decline in the polio rate here for the first week after the county-wide immunization. But after that, he said "We expect the number of cases to drop off about 80 per cent."

The preventive effects of the serum last only about four weeks, but health authorities are hopeful that will get Montgomery past the worst of the hot weather "polio season."

Twelve city schools and six others throughout the county will be turned into huge laboratories for the vaccination operation. They will be open day and night until Friday, when the last shots are given.

Every physician in the county and the entire medical staffs of Maxwell and Gunter Air Force Bases in Montgomery enlisted to help give the shots.

The National Polio Foundation, which is footing much of the bill, estimated the mass inoculation will cost one million dollars.

In 1951, the average U. S. farm worker produced enough to feed himself and 14 others, although in 1940 he produced only enough to feed himself and nine others.

Polio Serum Use To Be Explained

Harrisburg (AP) — The State Health Department yesterday made plans to instruct Pennsylvania physicians on the use and method of obtaining a new poliomyelitis serum.

The serum — gamma globulin — will be issued to private physicians attending polio victims upon request to the health department.

The state's annual allotment of the serum comes from the Office of Defense Mobilization with rigid regulations as to how it should be dispensed. Pennsylvania will receive 55,200 cubic centimeters as its 1953 share, based on an average annual average of 920 cases.

"This serum is not the complete answer to poliomyelitis — but at least it is an aid," said Dr. William D. Schrack Jr. of the health department.

"Tests have shown that one out of three victims of the disease suffered no paralysis accompanying poliomyelitis," he added.

Since various quantities of the serum are administered to each patient there is no way of knowing how extensive the state's allotment can be used.

Meanwhile, department figures showed five new cases of polio in Pennsylvania reported during the week ending June 25. That brought the year's total to 60 or 40 more than the same date last year.

Illinois Couples Exchange Mates

Sycamore, Ill., (AP)—The Dekalb County clerk's office had four customers for marriage licenses Saturday.

The two couples were Fred E. Bond, 32, and Mrs. Patricia Mattson, 26, and Donald S. Mattsan, 29, and Mrs. Beulah Mae Bond, 24. To a confused county worker, the couples explained that they were switching mates.

The Bonds had been divorced an hour earlier by Judge George Spitz of the Dekalb City Court. The Mattson marriage had been ended earlier the same day by the same judge.

Error Led To Setting Of Historic Date

By Raymond Wilcove
Central Press Correspondent

Washington,—If it were not for an historical error, America would be celebrating the signing of the Declaration of Independence on August 2, the date it actually took place.

Only the historians bemoan the premature commemoration of this great event. To the rest of the nation, including the highest dignitaries, the signing of the immortal document occurred July 4. Yet research has made it abundantly clear that the actual signing took place August 2, 1776.

An historic event did occur 177 years ago on July 4. On this day, the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration. However, the actual signing did not follow until the next month.

The error grew out of the belief that the adoption and signing of the document took place the same day. The error was compounded by the unknown person who wrote the account of the adoption for the Secret Journals of the Continental Congress.

When it came time to print the account, he interpolated after the text of the Declaration these words: "The foregoing declaration was, by order of Congress, engrossed and signed by the following members." Then followed the names of 55 members.

However, there is indisputable evidence that the 55 did not sign the Declaration July 4.

Research has shown:

1—The Secret Journals of the Continental Congress published in 1821 carry this statement for Aug. 2, 1776: "The Declaration of Independence, being engrossed and compared at the table, was signed by the members."

2—The five delegates who signed for Pennsylvania did not take their seats in Congress until July 20. Their names appeared among the 55.

3—Included in the names of the 55 were those of the New York delegation. But this delegation did not even vote on July 4, much less sign the document, because it lacked the necessary authority.

4—Matthew Thornton ,one of the 55, did not enter Congress until Nov. 4, 1776.

5—Elbridge Gerry, who absented himself from Congress on July 14 because of illness, authorized John Adams, by letter, to attach his signature for him "if the same is to be signed, as proposed."

Further proof:

6—Samuel Chase, another member, was absent July 4. On July 5 he wrote John Adams: "How shall I transmit to posterity that I gave my consent?" Adams replied, on July 9: "I conjecture the Declaration will be subscribed by all the members."

7—The Secret Journal for July 19, 1776, states that on that date the Continental Congress directed that the Declaration "passed on the fourth" should be engrossed on parchment, and added: "and that the same, when engrossed, be signed by every member of Congress."

There is no contemporary account of the signing in existence, other than appears in the Secret Journals. No member of the Continental Congress in the letters written in that period makes any mention of a signing July 4.

Nor does any account appear in their letters of the Aug. 2 signing. However, this last is easily explainable. On July 19, 1776, the Congress wrapped a cloak of secrecy around its deliberations. The purpose was to protect the members in the event the revolt failed and to prevent the enemy from obtaining valuable information.

The August 2 date would eventually have been accepted in lieu of that of July 4 if it had not been for Thomas Jefferson. More than 40 years after the signing, Thomas McKean stated that while he had voted for the Declaration on July 4, he had signed the document later.

This brought McKean into a controversy with Jefferson, then 79.

An old and treasured painting depicting the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson said there had been two signings. He declared that the members signed a paper on July 4 and a parchment copy August 2.

However, it is apparent now that Jefferson's memory was faulty. For the third President wrote further that the Declaration was "agreed to by the House and signed by every member present except Mr. Dickinson."

However, John Dickinson of Pennsylvania was not present in Congress July 4. Furthermore, seven of the members who were present July 4 did not sign the document.

Actually, the entire signing was not completed Aug. 2. Still more signatures were added during the fall by tardy members.

However, sufficient members signed the document August 2 to make it effective.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

This is the last day of June, but not the last day of the weddings which are spreading over into July. Did you ever see so many weddings as we've had this year?

If it weren't so hot up on third floor at WVPO where the back books are stored and I weren't so lazy I'd check up and see whether it was the number or the size of the weddings which is increasing, year by year.

I'm inclined to think that it's a combination of the two. I can remember when a church wedding around the Stroudsburgs was the exception rather than the rule, mostly people slipped off and were married in Philadelphia or Doylestown or New York and a paragraph covered the story.

Or else they were married in the parsonage or at home with only the families present, and it took three paragraphs to tell the story.

Now, of course, with pictures and flower girls and ring-bearers and receptions and decorations, a wedding as a real production.

The method doesn't seem to matter, however, since we've had quite a few golden wedding anniversaries this June. Maybe it would be more useful to this year's crop of brides, if instead of describing what the ring-bearers wore we'd give some sage advice from the couples who've weathered fifty years of marriage.

The only trouble with that is that nobody listens to advice, and each couple is going to have to live the next fifty years their own way. More power to them.

Bobby Hartman's Pictures Of Africa Shown

Bartonsville—Colored slides on Africa and a talk by Mrs. Stanley Hartman were featured on the June program of the Wesley Chapel Woman's Society of Christian Service Thursday night, June 25, in Wesley Hall. Mrs. Clyde White presided at the meeting and Mrs. Thomas Miller read the Scripture.

Mrs. Hartman's daughter, Miss Barbara Hartman, teaches music and nursing and serves as hospital pharmacist in the Methodist Mission work in Kenya, British East Africa, where she has been for two years. She is the first woman pharmacist to be sent into this field.

A question and answer period was eagerly participated in by the group, who have discussed the sending of a gift box to Miss Hartman. Receiving blankets are the most urgent need which she has mentioned in her letters home. Packaged cake mixes are an appreciated food item . . from the States.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Minnie Dalrymple, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Steward Walters, Mrs. Kenneth Hartman, Mrs. Clyde White, Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr.

Meetings have been adjourned until September.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

From Switzerland, if you please, comes a very pretty and practical map of Pennsylvania. I discovered this yesterday on Bea Gorgy's counter, where flowers, hankies and accessories bloom as brightly as posies in an old fashioned garden.

This particular hanky sells for $1, and the map is embroidered on a very sheer material such as we find always in good Swiss costume touches. The manufacturer is Franshaw, and bold as life are the words "Made In Switzerland," on the stickem label.

Franshaw also gives us Pennsylvania in print . . . but this is not an importation. The words Oil City . . . Harrisburg, Philadelphia, and such, appear in a black all over pattern, and there are touches of bright color here and there. The price for this is 50 cents.

Both of these are cute . . . but my choice is the more expensive, where, in gay embroidery one finds the Pocono Mountains. If I were a visitor, I'd surely take one of these home as a souvenir of a joyous summer holiday.

* * *

The little visored hats we women have been favoring for summer wear these many years, are still high ranking favorites. I can attest to this, after spending an hour in the Hat Bar yesterday afternoon. One woman shopper was delighted with a Scotch plaid number she had discovered and, since she couldn't get prompt attention she hid it under a stack of other hats so it would surely be there when she'd return from another errand. It was . . . and it proved most becoming, so she wore it away, looking very smart—and with only $1 less in her purse.

* * *

Other things that customers are asking for . . .and buying . . . are those amusing key rings in leather with dangling "whimsicals." (Wish I could have made that Icicles Well . . . why not "niceicles" . . they ARE awfully cute.) These are $1 items that would be suitable remembrances for the folks back home . . . and almost anyone would also like to treat him-or herself to such an amusing pocket or handbag accessory.

Some of the key rings have red bottles labeled "Chianti" as their charming feature . . . while others have cannon, binoculars, or dice. And then, as we mentioned once before, there is another style with special emblems for the various types of automobiles.

* * *

Wonder if you've noticed the big rack of books . . . for children as well as adults . . . near the entrance of the Cardcade? There are classics for the home library at $1.25 . .. and on the other side there are Jungle books, biographies of famous men, and just plain rip-roaring good fiction, for the young. One title that fascinates me is "Bartholomew and the Oobleck." I'm hoping one of my little friends will tell me what an Oobleck is . . . if not, I shall have to spend my own $1 to satisfy my curiosity.

My gracious, Susie . . . I thought you went to lunch. Oobleck already?

State Funds To Help Fight Mine Blaze

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine yesterday ordered the use of an unspecified amount of state funds to put out a mine fire threatening a section of Scranton.

"The funds to fight this fire will come from the catastrophe fund in the Department of Military Affairs," W. J. Clements, state secretary of mines, said in a statement after a conference with the governor, Adj.-Gen. Frank A. Weber and Atty.-Gen. Robert E. Woodside.

Clements said an appropriation by the General Assembly will be needed. He added that the federal government will make some money available.

'Following our conference with the governor we are able to give complete assurance to the people in the mine fire area that relief is definitely in sight, Clements said.

He quoted the governor as saying "We must not and we will not leave anything undone to protect our citizens in the area of the fire."

Clements said four drill holes for "flushing" (smothering) the blaze in the Scranton-Minooka stripping area have been completed.

"We now intend to drill more holes and do everything that is necessary to prevent the mine fire from spreading under the residential section," Clements said.

He pointed out that the Mines Department sent a first aid and mine rescue truck to Scranton to take care of persons who might be affected by the fumes.

"I have also placed men in the homes nearest the fire to make periodic inspections and guard against dangerous fumes escaping from the fire," Clements explained. "In addition I have placed in each of the houses in the affected area fans to ward off the fumes which already have overcome some of the residents."

Liberty Bell's 200th Anniversary Recalls Inscription That Prophesied U.S. Freedom

By Franklin Johnson
Central Press Correspondent

Philadelphia—The nation's most cherished physical symbol of its freedom, the historic Liberty Bell enshrined here in the restored Independence Hall, is marking its 200th anniversary.

The world-famous bell is considerably older than the United States it saw born.

The fact that it did not attain its significance as the clarion for American independence until 23 years after it was forged is part of the mysticism of one of the world's greatest patriotic relics, considering how prophetic its inscription became.

Its rugged past, dramatized by the crack which snakes three-fourths of the way upward from its rim, seems typical of the trials and tribulations encountered in any attempt to establish human freedom.

Although the bell originally came from England, it is a native American product. Two journeymen of this "City of Brotherly Love," Pass and Stow, recast the British product a year after it had arrived and shattered under a single stroke of the clapper.

* * *

Pass and Stow added a little American copper to reduce its brittleness, and moulded the inscription: "Proclaim LIBERTY throughout all the Land unto all the Inhabitants thereof. Lev. XXV 10. Unknown to them at the time, it was destined to do just that! They added their own names and "1753."

The bell then was hoist into the tower of the new state house, where it performed yeoman service for a quarter of a century before its great moment on July 8, 1776, when the public was summoned to the yard to be told that four days earlier the Declaration of Independence had been signed on the first Independence Day!

The prophesy in the inscription is credited to an assemblyman, Isaac Norris, a Quaker. He turned to the Bible and the 10th verse of the 25th chapter of Leviticus for his inspiration.

The bell originally arrived in 1752, and was a botched job. To the patriots in 1776 it seemed mysteriously significant that the bell was like their own efforts to recast and improve upon the ideas of liberty in the England whence many of them or their immediate ancestors had come.

* * *

They also viewed with satisfaction the fact that Pass and Stow had returned slightly closer to the literal text of the Scripture in casting their version of the slogan.

The Liberty Bell became a prized symbol of the Revolution from the very start. When American forces retreated from Philadelphia in 1777, it was taken to Allentown, Pa., for safety, and returned after the British had left.

The Liberty Bell—as it looks today.

The bell is 12 feet in circumference and, while a large bell, it is not among the most gigantic in the world by any means. That title probably belongs to the bell at the Kremlin, Moscow, which is 60 feet 9 inches in circumference, and is marred by a seven-foot-high fragment which broke out of it in 1737.

* * *

Bells have captured the imaginations of people ever since the most ancient times, because in medieval cities it was said truthfully that, "He who controls the bell, controls the town." This arose from the fact that the people usually were assembled by a sudden urgent ringing of the greatest bell in the locality, as indeed occurred here in 1776.

The Liberty Bell has a particularly colorful and sensitive tradition, however, owing to its unusually appropriate inscription, and its close identity with the very first acts of the new United States.

* * *

Climaxing this was the appearance of its characteristic crack on July 8, 1835, when its head seemed to break as it tolled for the funeral of the great John Marshall, the chief justice of the Supreme Court who for so many years helped forge the precise details of the Constitutional guarantees of liberty.

Today it is more hallowed than ever, hanging from a sturdy oaken beam which during the last year was pronounced as sound as ever by wood specialists.

As an interesting aftermath to the story of the Liberty Bell, the British bell casters later made good on their contract and sent a duplicate, which was given to St. Augustine's church here. The church was burned in 1844, and the bell crashed into the ruins. Its fragments were recast into a treasured relic now on the campus of Villanova, Pa., college.

However, nothing could or can take the place of the Liberty Bell.

Health Bill Signed By Gov. Fine

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine yesterday beat a federal deadline by two days in signing into law a bill to require the State Department of Health to enforce sanitary living conditions at homes for the aged, nursing, and convalescent homes and similar institutions.

If the measure had not been enacted and signed by July 1, the commonwealth would have lost $250,000 a month in federal funds for the state public assistance program.

The bill was introduced in the House on May 5 and was passed in that chamber on June 9. It won final passage in the Senate on June 16.

Other legislation signed by the governor yesterday would:

Set up a state-wide system for keeping vital statistics on the commonwealth's population under supervision of the State Health Department.

Prohibit the unauthorized wearing of Civil Air Patrol uniforms or insignia and provide for a $100 fine or two month prison sentence as a penalty.

Appropriate $4,040,000 from the state motor license fund to the board of finance and revenue to meet interest sinking fund and service requirements on the state debt.

Appropriate $41,000 from the World War II veterans bonus fund to pay salaries and other expenses in handling the bonus.

National Bank Shades Security Trust

Carson Tosses One-Hitter In Victory, 8-1

Johnny Carson fashioned a one-hit pitching job as the First National Bank won over Security Trust in a Stroudsburg Little League baseball game last night, 8-1, on the circuit's official field.

The lone hit came in the third inning when Security Trust averted a shutout by scoring its only run of the contest.

Two runs in the first inning put the First National Bank in front to stay as the winning contingent missed scoring in only one of the five innings in which it batted.

The winning aggregation picked up a singleton in the second, three in the third and two in the fifth, to compile its winning margin.

National Bank did its damage on five hits and 12 bases on balls.

Today's action in the same circuit will send the National Bank against Peoples Coal, on the same field, at 6:15 p.m.

Belardi Drives Home Six Runs As Dodgers Roll Over Yankees In Exhibition Benefit Battle, 9-0

New York (AP) — First baseman Wayne Belardi drove in six runs last night as the Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the New York Yankees, 9-0, before 56,136, the largest New York baseball crowd of the year.

The receipts of approximately $80,000 went to organizations promoting sandlot baseball in New York.

Belardi led an eight hit Brooklyn attack with a pair of home runs and a double. John Podres, seldom-used Dodger lefthander, and Ben Wade, handcuffed the Yankees on six hits.

In league play this season the Yanks have been shut out only their last seven regular games.

Ewell Blackwell started for New York and was pummelled for seven hits and seven runs in four innings. The Dodgers picked up two in the first, got two more in the third when Belardi hit his first homer with a runner on, and three more in the fourth—two of them when Belardi doubled with the bases loaded. The final pair came in the ninth when Belardi got his second homer.

Jack's Market, Newman's Win In Softball

A pair of home runs by Harold Freeman and one four base blow by Jack Sommers carried Jack's Market to a 14-10 victory over Shaffer's Inn in one of two Monroe County Softball Elimination Tournament games last night. This games was played at East Stroudsburg Playground.

Newman's Dress Shop took the measure of Tucker's Chevrolet, 6-5, at Stroudsburg Playground.

Big Innings

Shaffer's Inn went down to defeat despite a nine-run fifth inning, which shot the losing team into a brief 9-6 advantage. Jack's contingent ran wild for seven counters in the seventh to take all doubt out of the final score.

Newman's and Tucker's hooked up in a close ball game that found two runs by Newman's contingent in the fifth inning turning out to be the difference beiween victory and defeat.

Today's schedule will send Al Besecker's Diner against IAM at East Stroudsburg Playground while Union Printers and the Eagles clash at Stroudsburg Playground. Both games in the double elimination tournament begin at 6:30 p.m.

Line Material Rallies To Nip Worthington Mower Foe, 12-11

Line Material came up with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning at Gordon Giffels field last night to score a 13-12 victory over Worthington Mower in a Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs baseball game.

Worthington had fought back from an 11-9 deficit with three runs of its own in the top of the seventh and entered the home half of the final frame with a 12-11 edge in the scoring.

No outs had been registered when the winning run crossed the plate.

Each club used one big inning as its chief bid for victory. Worthington Mower picked up seven tallies in the top of the fourth, only to have Line Material fight back with eight tallies in the bottom of the same frame.

Eight Worthington Mower errors proved fatal to the cause, although the Worthington club used three Line Material errors and a total of nine walks to tally a dozen runs.

Today's action in the circuit will send Monroe Silk against Barrett at Gordon Giffels field, at 6:15 p.m.

Arcaro Enjoys Big Day

Pawtucket, R. I. (AP) — Jockey Eddie Arcaro celebrated a "day" in his honor yesterday at Narragansett Park by booting home the winners in the $7,500 "Eddie Arcaro Purse" and a special match race against veteran riders Jimmy Lynch and Joey Renick.

Winner

Arcaro, only an apprentice boy back in 1934 when Narragansett first opened its gates, was feted as "Gansett began its 20th season with a 10-race card. Lynch and Renick are the only jockeys from the old 'Gansett group who still are active.

Arcaro brought home Will To Win ($2.80) in the match race, six and one-half lengths ahead of Red Cap, with Renick up. Lynch aboard Bogan was another length and one quarter back.

Giants May Visit Japan

New York (AP) — For the first time in history an entire big league baseball team, the New York Giants, may visit Japan next fall to play a series of exhibitions against that country's strongest club, the Tokyo Giants.

Invitation

President Horace Stoneham of the National League club said yesterday he had tentatively accepted an invitation from Shodi Yasuda, president of the newspaper Yomiuri and owner of the Tokyo team, to make the trip if the necessary permission can be obtained.

Mount Pocono Rotary, Pocono Lions Win In Little League

Mount Pocono Rotary broke a two-game winning streak of the Barrett Lions last night at Pocono Manor, 11-4, while Pocono Lions won the other Pocono Mountains Little League game over Barrett Rotary, 20-15, at Siglin field, Mountainhome.

Ronald Schick blasted two home runs and Jimmy Kinney hit one four bagger to power Mount Pocono to victory.

The winning aggregation scored in all but one inning, picking up three tallies in each of the first and second frames, then put the contest on ice with four markers in the fourth and added an insurance counter in the fifth.

Pocono Lions outlasted Barrett Rotary in a real wild contest that featured one huge inning on behalf of each club.

The Lions ran wild for 13 runs in the second frame, only to have Rotary back with 11 counters in the fifth. The Rotary club scored another singleton in the bottom of the last frame, but failed to change the tide of battle.

Winning Club Scores In Every Inning

Cramer Lumber Company scored in every inning in which it went to bat last night while defeating Heller-Owens-Howell in an East Stroudsburg Little League baseball game, 12-8. The contest was played on the circuit's official field.

Dale Metzgar and Stine lashed out home runs for the losing and winning contingents, respectively, as the Lumbermen scored three times in the bottom of the first inning to take a lead they never relinquished.

Cramer Lumber took advantage of seven HOH errors to do a great deal of its damage.

HOH crammed all of its runs into three innings, doing most of the damage with five markers in the fourth round.

The Lumbermen banged out 11 safeties, while HOH accounted for 10 hits.

Last night's victory enabled the Lumbermen to even their record at four wins and the same number of setbacks.

Today's schedule calls for the Methodist and East Stroudsburg National Bank to clash on the same field, at 6:15 p.m.

Cubs Upset Cardinals, 6-2

St. Louis, (AP)—Big Paul Minner, usually tough for the St. Louis Cardinals, limited the Redbirds to six hits, only two in the first seven innings, as he pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 6-2 victory last night.

The Cubs shelled three Cardinal pitchers for 10 hits including home runs by Frankie Baumholtz and Eddie Miksis. Miksis also lined a triple off the left field wall.

Ray Jablonski found the range for the Cardinals, dumping his 11th homer of the season into the left field bleachers in the eighth to finally break through Minner's mastery. The Cub southpaw, who claimed his fourth victory in 12 decisions, retired 14 Card batters in order before Jablonski homered.

Three Innings

It took the Cubs three innings before they finally got to starter Joe Presko. Then Miksis rammed his third homer of the season into the left field seats in the fourth and Baumholtz lined his first of the year atop the right field pavilion for the first of two Cub runs in the fifth.

A single by Randy Jackson after Ralph Kiner walked and Hank Sauer was hit by a pitched ball scored Chicago's second fifth-inning marker.

Presko, a righthander suffering his eighth defeat, left the game in the sixth as the Cubs came back for two more runs.

Sala Earns Ring Verdict

Brooklyn, (AP)—Lee Sala of Donora, Pa., won a unanimous decision last night in a close 10-round fight with Garth Panter, Salt Lake City, Utah, at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Sala, at 161¼, was a 2-1 favorite against this 161 pound opponent, but did not live up to the odds. Only a strong showing in the late rounds made certain his victory.

Scoring

Referee Harry Kessler gave Sala five rounds, Panter four and called one even. Judge Bert Grant scored it 7-3, and Judge Jerry Carneige, 8-2.

A crowd of 1,000 saw Sala carry the attack from the sixth round on with a fast one-two combination to Panter's head and stomach. Panter in the first three rounds was the aggressor, pressing his attack in close.

Giants Down Red Sox, 6-3

Boston (AP) — New York's Ray Noble slammed a three-run homer and rival managers Leo Durocher and Lou Boudreau sparkled at bat and afield as the Giants defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, in an exhibition to benefit the hospitalized veterans fund last night before a 17,122 crowd.

Scoring

The Giants took a 3-0 edge in the second inning off Dick Brodowski — who is on leave from the Army's Ft. Lee, Va.—with Noble's homer following hits by Monte Irvin and "Hank" Thompson.

Durocher's pinch single and steal of second base plus successive doubles by Davey Williams and Don Mueller gave the Giants two in the fifth.

Red Trio Setting Pace

New York (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell and Jim Greengrass form a "murders' row" for the Cincinnati Redlegs this season.

This hard-hitting trio has walloped 51 home runs, more than any other three players on one club in the major leagues, figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed.

Breakdown

Kluszewski leads the National League with 22 homers. Bell has 19 and Greengrass, a rookie, has 10. They're the big reason the Redlegs are setting the major league pace with 87.

Brooklyn's trio of Roy Campanella, Duke Snider and Gil Hodges is second with 46 home runs.

The Cleveland Indians, who top the American League in home runs with 71, have Al Rosen with 16, Larry Doby, 15 and Dale Mitchell, Bobby Avila and Harry Simpson with five each. This gives the Tribe the foremost American League trio with 36.

Pittsburgh (AP) — Heavy rain halted an exhibition between the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates after six innings last night with the score readlocked, 2-2.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Two outstanding defensive plays were reported in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League on Sunday. Al Conklin, center fielder and manager of West End A. C. robbed Les "Bruno" Doll, Tannersville catcher, of a possible triple on the West End field when he ran a country mile, lunged for the ball and made a one-hand grab for the final out of the inning, with two Tannersville runners on base and both certain of scoring on the hit. Tannersville was forced to score two runs in the seventh and one in the eighth to win the game, 4-3.

The other fielding gem was by Johnny Knecht, combination pitcher-outfielder for Tobyhanna. Knecht was playing left field at the time on Sunday when a Saylorsburg batter drilled a line drive into left that had extra bases written all over it. But, Knecht made a diving, twisting catch to retire the hitter. Jim Wilson, the former Tobyhanna Township High baseball and basketball star who has drawn so much notice in the diamond sport, homered and tripled for Tobyhanna on Sunday, even though Saylorsburg went on to win by a 19-11 count in a high scoring game.

Many observers believe that Wilson, known to his many fans as "Cocky," could have had a home run on his triple if he wouldn't have pulled up at third base. Bill "Bump" Metzger, youthful southpaw who has been pitching well this spring and summer, was blasted from the hill by Tobyhanna in the first inning in his debut with Saylorsburg. The relief pitching of Manager Ralph "Peanuts" Moyer saved the day for Saylorsburg for the second straight game on Sunday. The Bushkill-Kunkletown game, in which Bushkill shocked the league by scoring an 8-7 victory in 13 innings, was held up twice by showers.

Ray Steele, former athletic star at East Stroudsburg High, enjoyed his most successful day in professional baseball on Sunday, as Williamsport won an Eastern League doubleheader from Elmira. Ray pitched one inning in relief in the first game, striking out one and walking the same number as the Billies won, 5-3. Steele worked two and one-third inless innings of relief in the nightcap, walked four and struck out one, while being credited with his second victory of the campaign. Williamsport won the nightcap by a 7-6 score. The latest showing of Steele will greatly please his many friends in this area.

Tom Garbac, owner of Stroudsburg Speedway, plans to construct additional bleachers at the dustless half-mile dirt track located next to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport, providing the large crowds of recent weeks continue. Although the driver is listed from Easton, at least one Bangor stock car runs at Stroudsburg Speedway each Saturday night. Dale Johnson, East Stroudsburg, and Ray Fleming, Bethlehem, are the cigar smokers among the stock car pilots at the local track. Both smoke cigars while driving in an actual race.

At least one stock car track in a neighboring area advertises top stars who haven't raced on the oval this year. Such isn't the case at Stroudsburg Speedway, ugles the driver is forced to cancel his appearance at the last minute. Garbac and the Liberty Stock Car Association advertises only the drivers that are certain to be on hand. This is one of the reasons Harold "Flying Milkman" Brokhoff, one of the best stock car pilots in the business, wasn't given top billing in last week's pre-race buildup. It wasn't known for certain that the Pottsville milkman would be able to make the show at Stroudsburg Speedway.

Martins Creek, one of the rising powers in the Blue Mountain League., is featuring two former Lafayette students on its roster at the present time in the persons of Cassebaum and Dixon. Dixon played shortstop on the Lafayette baseball club that won the District II championship and advanced to the semi-final round of the NCAA tournament. Earl Smickley, a member of the Blue Mountain Umpires Association, is a cousin of Art Smickley, a former Stroudsburg High athlete who has since become a victim of war.

Manager Danny Carnevale removed himself from the active list of the Jamestown Falcons, class "D" Pony League, to make room for a young infielder. Carnevale formerly managed the Carbondale entry in the now defunct class "D" North Atlantic League. Ronnie Kump, pitcher with Lebanon in 1949, the year before the North Atlantic League went out of operation, missed winning his 11th game of the campaign for Columbus, of the class "A" South Atlantic League, when he dropped a 1-0 decision to Macon. Kump has now lost five games.

Ed Varhely, 22-game winner with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1949, recently pitched Tulsa to a 5-1 victory over Houston in a class "A" Texas League contest. Varhely has appeared in 16 games, worked 55 innings, retired 27 batters on strikes while winning five and losing two games for a .714 percentage.

Kelchner Leading Pocono A.C. In Batting Department

Three Players Have Blasted Home Runs

Larry Kelchner, who has been only a part time performer for Pocono A. C., Monroe County's entry in the Blue Mountain League, thus far this season, is leading the club at bat with a solid .500 average, with four hits in eight trips to the plate, including one home run, a triple and a double.

Pocono A.C. offensive figures were released yesterday by Bob Fable, official scorer for the club.

Harold Jacobsen, a pitcher, is next in the batting line with a .428 mark.

Carson Deffinbaugh is the top regular on the club, as the first string catcher is hitting the ball at a .333 clip, with seven hits in 21 trips to the platter.

Brackets

The club features only three players, those named above, hitting over .300, while no less than seven members of the squad are in the .200 division. Four players are hitting in the .100 class or lower.

Three members of the club have hit home runs at this point of the campaign. The trio consists of Kelchner, Bob Mellman and John "Juice" Arnst.

Pocono A. C. at the present time has five wins and six setbacks on its league agenda.

Zaharias Returns To Home Course

Tampa, Fla. (AP) — Babe Zaharias was back on her home course yesterday, but it will be several days before the queen of golfers does any shooting.

Slow

The physician who operated on her for cancer two and one-half months ago gave her the good word last week that she could start playing again soon, but told her to go slow.

She and her husband, George Zaharias, former professional wrestler, own the Tampa Golf and Country Club.

Returns To Circle

Elmont, N. Y., (AP)—Raymond Woolfe Jr. lost little time returning to the winner's circle at Belmont Park. The recent graduate of Camden, S. C. High, scored with his first mount of 1953 when he rode Shipboard to victory in a hurdles race. His father trained the horse.

American, Danish Stars Eliminate Top Aussies In Quarter-Final Round Of Wimbledon Tennis

Wimbledon, England (AP)—Australia, reigning power in world tennis the past three years, lost two of its stars in quarterfinal round matches of the Wimbledon Tournament yesterday with big Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, engineering one of the surprises.

Seixas' 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 1-6, 9-7 triumph over Lewis Hoad couldn't be classified as an upset although the 18-year-old Hoad had been playing some of the best tennis on display here this year.

But Kurt Nielson's victory by scores of 7-5, 4-6, 6-8, 6-0, 6-2 over Ken Rosewall, seeded number one here and the Australians' big gun in the coming Davis Cup campaign, was a shocker.

Nielson, 23-year-old Dane who plays with a big grin on his face, clearly was the better player yesterday and he virtually blew the overtrained Rosewall off the number one court in the final two sets.

Larsen Bows

In the other quarterfinal round matches Mervyn Rose, the third member of Australia's youthful trio, eliminated Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., former U. S. champion, 6-3, 6-3, 16-14, and Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt, still weary from last week's exhausting play, used just enough of his energy to defeat Even Davidson, of Sweden, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0.

Tomorrow's semi-final round pairings will pit Seixas against Rose and Drobny against Nielsen. The title will be decided Friday.

The defeats of Rosewall and Hoad boosted U. S. Davis Cup hopes greatly.

The second Monday of Wimbledon is traditionally "men's day." But a few third round matches involving the girls were worked into the schedule.

The doubles team of Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, seeded first, defeated Mrs. P. F. Glover of Britain, and Mrs. Maria Weiss, Argentina, 6-0, 6-0.

Second seeded Maureen Connolly, San Diego, Calif., and Julie Sampson, Pasadena, Calif., won from Mrs. N. W. Blair, Britain, and Mrs. Harry Hopman, Australia, 6-1, 6-2.

Williams Probably Won't Play With Bosox Until Next Season

Washington (AP) — The Marine Corps said yesterday that Ted Williams will come back from Korea tomorrow but that he probably won't play any baseball this season.

Williams, a captain in the First Marine Air Wing, was ordered back to the states for treatment of an ear and nose ailment that impairs his usefulness as a jet pilot. He had flown 38 combat missions before he was grounded earlier this month.

Long Service

Lou Boudreau, manager of the Boston Red Sox, said he's convinced Williams would get back into the lineup if he is released from active duty before the end of the season.

The 35-year-old slugger has been with the Red Sox since 1939 except for hitches with the Marine Corps in World War II and his more recent service in Korea. He was called back to duty in May, 1952.

A Marine Corps spokesman said Williams' tour of duty is not up until October, when the baseball season will be over, and "it's" most unlikely Williams will be released from active duty before then."

He said Williams will enter the Oak Knoll Hospital near San Francisco upon his return from Korea. Just what will happen to Ted after that is not known, the spokesman said, adding "It's up to the doctors."

Steelers Sign Trainer

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League signed Mayo Donelli, 33, as trainer yesterday to succeed Neil Penn who quit. A native of nearby Bridgeville, Donelli has been working for the past five years at Boston University.

Goodman, Schoendienst Lead In Average Race

New York, (AP)—Three former batting champions were running one-two-three in the American League 1953 hitting race yesterday.

Billy Goodman of the Boston Red Sox tops all batters with a .332 mark, followed by teammate George Kell at .330 and Washington's Mickey Vernon at .328. Figures include Sunday's games.

Goodman displaced Vernon as the leader this week as he advanced from second place. The Boston handyman went 10-for-28 and lifted his average five points.

Kell, an early-season pace-setter, climbed into the runnerup spot, going 10 for 25. Despite a bad back, he boosted his average 10 points.

Vernon skidded to third. The slender first baseman collected 10 hits in 34 trips and lost five points.

National

"Red" Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cards continues to set the National League pace with .344. The switch-hitting second baseman's average failed to change as he went 10 for 29 during the week.

Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers retained second place with .335. Robinson, returning to full-time action after being sidelined with a knee injury, suffered a seven-point decline.

Cincinnati's Gus Bell moved into third with .323. He went 12 for 31 and gained nine points.

Lefty Ed Lopat of the Yanks leads the American League pitchers in won-lost percentage with an 8-1 record for .889. Pitching laurels in the National loop belong to Lew Burdette of the Braves with a perfect 7-0 slate.

Gus Zernial of the A's still tops the American League in home runs with 18, but Al Rosen of the Indians has forged to the front in runs batted in with 53.

Princeton Student Signs With A's

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics yesterday signed Bob Unger, who achieved a degree of sports fame as a football player at Princeton University, and assigned the lefthanded pitcher to Savannah of the Sally League.

Bonus

General Manager Arthur Ehlers said Unger was paid a bonus, the amount undisclosed. The five-foot-11, 180-pounder is 22 and a resident of West Lawn, Pa.

Burke Drops Out Of PGA Tournament

Birmingham, Mich. (AP) — Jackie Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., dropped out of the 35th Professional Golfers Association Tournament yesterday and his withdrawal emphasized the probability that there'll be a wide open scrap starting tomorrow for the title Jimmy Turnesa won last year.

Burke, who was suffering from flu when he won the Inverness Tournament week before last, finished in a tie for eighth in the Manakiki Open at Cleveland Sunday. Yesterday he sent word that he was sick and would not be able to play.

Curley haired Jackie was one of about two dozen top-flight tournament pros who joined with the great body of "club" professionals to make up the entry list of 150.

Top Names

Others included Sammy Snead, a three-time winner of the PGA championship; Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who won the Manakiki Tournament, and Ted Kroll, whom he beat in a sudden-death playoff; Ed "Porky" Oliver, Dave Douglas, "Chick" Harbert, Tommy Boltz, Jerry Barber, "Dutch" Harrison, Fred Haas Jr., George Fazio and, of course, Defending Champion Turnesa.

But the greater part of the entry list was composed of pros who spend most of the time in their shops or giving lessons and turn out only for this championship of their own. And the setup of the gruelling matchplay event is such that "home" pros can do a lot of damage although they seldom win.

Stan Dudas, an assistant pro on the staff of Shawnee Inn, Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., is also busily preparing for the long PGA grind ahead.

Will 1953 Be Repeat Of 1928? Are Yanks Going To Blow Lead?

By Joe Reichner

New York, (AP)—Is this the 1928 season all over again?

Just 25 years ago this month the Yankees were enjoying a 13-game lead over Philadelphia—and blew it.

That's right. On June 28, the Yankees were 13 games ahead of the Athletics. On September 7 the A's swept a doubleheader from Boston and the Yankees dropped two games to Washington to make up a 13-game deficit and deadlock the race. Philadelphia went ahead the next day, winning two more from the Red Sox while the Yankees were defeating the Senators in a single game.

The decisive battles took place on September 9 at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees swept the twin bill from Philadelphia, 5-0 and 7-3 as George Pipgras and Waite Hoyt outpitched John Quinn and Eddie Rommel to regain the lead for New York.

A's Fade

The double setback broke the heart and the back of the Athletics amazing drive. The Yankees went on to win the pennant by two and one-half games.

The biggest lead enjoyed by the current Yankees was 11 and one-half last June 21. Since then they have dropped seven in succession and their lead shrunk to six games over Cleveland and six and one-half over third-place Chicago.

What seemed to be a romp for the Yankees only a week ago now is showing signs og becoming a tight three-team pennant race.

Nobody seems to be able to understand the sudden turn of affairs.

"It's difficult to explain how a club that looked so unbeatable only a short time ago can look so terrible now," moaned Yankee Manager "Casey" Stengel. We're missing out three ways. We're not getting the hitting, the field and the pitching. I brought a good club home, and they're not doing good in any department now."

Fewer Forest Fires Noted In District

Forest fires in the Delaware district, covered from the Stroudsburg office of E. C. Pyle, district forester, showed a decided decline in acreage burned and property loss, according to a report compiled this week.

Pyle's statement shows only 12 forest fires this Spring, compared with 33 last year. Eight of the fires occurred in Monroe County and four in Pike. Northampton County section under jurisdiction of the local office, was spared fires this season.

The report further disclosed a definite drop in areas burned. This year 320.5 acres were destroyed. Last spring 1,613.5 acres were burned. The breakdown shows Monroe County had the largest area destroyed: 272.5 acres. Pike County had 48 acres burned.

Damage by fire totaled $1,429 this Spring, and last year the amount zoomed to $9,007.

While Pike County suffered the smallest area damage, it's property loss was higher—$780. Monroe County damage was $649, the report continues.

It cost the Delaware district $606.50 to extinguish fires this Spring, but last year the amount was $2,586.03, Pyle said. Cost in Monroe was $520.35 and in Pike, $86.15.

Causes of fires were one railroad blaze in Monroe; five transients in Monroe and two in Pike; two of incendiary nature in Monroe and one in Pike, and one of a miscellaneous nature in Pike.

Average area burned per fire was 34.06 acres in Monroe and 12 acres in Pike. Monroe County's eight forest fires caused an average of $81.12 in damages; $2.38 an acre; $65.04 cost of each fire and $1.91 cost of each acre burned.

In Pike County the damage per fire was $195; the damage per acre was $16.35; and the cost per fire was $21.54, or $1.79 an acre.

REP. DANIEL A. REED (R-NY) angrily addresses the House Rules Committee in Washington after legislation to extend the excess profits tax for six months was voted out of the Ways and Means committee of which Reed is chairman. Rep. Charles Halleck (left), House majority leader urged the move after Reed blocked the bill, requested by President Eisenhower, by refusing to let his committee vote on it. Reed called off his blockade of the bill yesterday and called a committee meeting for July 8 to consider the tax extension.

International Situation Far From Stable

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States, facing a world-wide ring of delicate problems, today finds itself surrounded by uncertainty and ineffectiveness in practically every chancellery upon which it depends for political support.

Illness had left Britain without either an active Prime Minister or foreign secretary.

France was trying to get a new Cabinet going, but it was one without any vigorous program for tackling the problems which beset this major European ally.

Italy's Premier De Gasperi dissolved his Cabinet. Considerable maneuvering was expected before he could form a new one—if, indeed, he can.

The Adenauer government of Western Germany was surrounded by pre-election uncertainties. Adenauer was under fire, along with his friends of the North Atlantic Alliance, particularly the United States, for having been caught unprepared for exploitation of the recent anti-Communist uprising in Eastern Germany.

Japan, major strategic base for the United States in Asia, had a relatively stable government, but was beginning to chafe openly about U. S. restrictions on trade with Red China, and was displaying considerable jitters over the prospect that the U. S. would soon call upon her to re-arm.

And the most trouble of all was being caused by one of the least of the allies—South Korea.

The general situation was so unstable that there was a certain amount of relief mingled with the dismay at a third postponement of the Bermuda conference, this time because of the illnes of Winston Churchill.

President Eisenhower had called the conference under pressure of growing divergencies with the policy of Great Britain, particularly the Churchillian attitude toward Russia. But the President was not eager for a showdown on European proposals for a top-level conference with Russia.

Nor does he wish to argue now about the British idea that Red China should be admitted to the United Nations after a Korean truce. There is little prospect of immediate agreement on that score.

Another subject which had been expected to come up at Bermuda is the French demand for greater aid against Communist insurgency in Indochina. But that topic is being handled just as well bilaterally, and served at best to take the parley out of the class of a bilateral discussion of much broader subjects with Britain.

The British, however, despite the disturbances in Allied political circles, seem determined not to let their projects lie passive on the table. R. A. Butler, acting in the absence of Churchill, already is proposing to keep the pot boiling with preliminary discussions at the ministerial level pending the time when Churchill, Eisenhower and Laniel of France—if the latter is still Premier then—can get together.

The situation has developed at a time when the Allies desperately need a positive policy toward the reunification of Germany and the support of anti-Communist elements throughout Eastern Europe.

Careful study of Red China is needed to start her on a long-expected reorientation away from the Cominform.

Prospects of a Korean truce require concentration on policy to be followed at an Asiatic peace conference.

Yet the international merry-go-round is traveling at such speed that nobody is even able to reach for the brass ring.

Truman Chides McCarthy But Refuses To Comment On Senator's Statement

New York, (AP)—Vacationing ex-President Harry S. Truman spent yesterday taking his usual morning walk, talking about his pet project—the Truman library—and chiding Wisconsin's Sen. McCarthy.

Despite steamy weather Truman's morning constitutional was long—19 blocks—and brisk—22 minutes. This included time out to sign autographs and shake hands with many he met on the way.

The library, to house Truman's personal papers and to stand on the Truman farm near Grandview, Mo., was the subject discussed at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria, where he and Mrs. Truman are staying.

And McCarthy, the Republican head of the Senate Permanent Investigating Committee, was chided by Truman on two occasions during the day.

Once was when Truman was asked for comment on a McCarthy statement that the committee might call the ex-President as a witness, to talk about what became of "a list of American members of an alleged atomic spy ring," a list McCarthy said Truman received from Canada in 1945.

Truman, smiling, said:

"What I could tell you, you wouldn't print. Therefore, I say no comment."

Again, during the luncheon, Truman said the site for the library would be a gift from himself, his brother and sister, and added:

"If anyone wants to look at the site, to see if there are any financial advantages to me, you might ask McCarthy to make the investigation."

Earlier, Truman had told the luncheon group the library would be a national project, to serve small colleges in mid-America as "a research center located almost at the center of the United States," and to preserve records of the Roosevelt-Truman era for historians.

"You don't need any memorials to me," he added. "I'll be cussed and discussed by the next generation, at least."

Basil O'Connor, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Harry S. Truman Library, Inc., said the luncheon was one of several being held simultaneously around the country to enlist financial support for the project which he said will cost 1¾ million.

CAPTAIN Jan Cwiklinski, master of the Polish liner Batory on which bail-jumping Gerhart Eisler, German-born Communist leader, fled from the United States in 1949, has left his ship in England. The British Home Office announced that Cwiklinski has asked for political asylum in Britain. The shipper did not sail with his liner when it left Newcastle-on-Tyne for Poland. The Batory had been in England the past six weeks for refitting.

Ike Signs Bill Extending Draft Of Medical Men

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower signed yesterday a bill extending for two years legislation under which doctors, dentists and veterinarians may be drafted.

The legislation applies to men up to the age of 50 years. They may be inducted for 24 months of active military duty, unless they already have had at least 21 months of service since September, 1940.

The new law provides a sliding scale by which registrants with less than 21 months of previous service will be placed in categories based on that service. The additional $100 monthly pay provided for doctors and dentists by existing law is extended to veterinarians by the new law.

House GOP Rejects New Tax Package

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, stood at Fine's side during the news conference and said the governor was received "very nicely."

Asked if he thought the new tax package could clear the Senate, if passed by the House, Taylor replied:

"Send it over there—we'll pass it, I'm confident of that."

The new tax program which was turned down by House Republicans includes:

Motor vehicle title transfer tax, 2 per cent, 85 million dollars.

Increase state cigaret tax from 4 to 5 cents a pack, 20 millions.

Increase gross receipts tax on electric utilitites from 14 to 20 mills and extend it to gas companies, 17 millions.

Mark up the price of wines to increase the state's profit from 43 to 58 per cent, to bring the wine price in line with the liquor mark-up, 10 millions.

The governor, in announcing the program, refused to speculate on its reception by the legislature, which has been deadlocked for six months on ways of raising 708 million dollars in new taxes to balance the commonwealth's $1,400,000,000 budget for the 1953-55 biennium.

The governor estimated that 118 million dollars is needed to balance the state's budget. He told reporters that figure included a prospective 5 per cent salary increase for state workers. With funds provided by the newest tax package, he said, that increase could be boosted to 10 per cent, if the levies are approved.

Nehru On Side Of Freedom, Stevenson Says After Visit

New York, (AP)—Adlai Stevenson yesterday quoted India's Pandit Nehru as saying that in a showdown India will be on the side of freedom.

Stevenson cautioned, however, in an article in Look magazine, that too much American pressure to have India join the anti-Communist front might produce the opposite result.

"I suspect that Nehru . . . rather fancies the role of a non-involved peacemaker," Stevenson wrote.

Stevenson, the Democrat who lost the White House to President Eisenhower, visited India recently during a post-election world tour from which he has not yet returned.

He described Nehru, the Indian Prime Minister, as "essentially a liberal in the best Western sense," and said that with men like Nehru in power India "will never go the authoritarian war."

But Stevenson added:

"These proud Asian peoples cannot be browbeaten, bribed or cajoled, and we cannot win friends merely by shouting anti-Communist slogans."

More important, Stevenson wrote, is for India to "strengthen her fledgling democracy than to proclaim her allegiance to 'our side' in foreign affairs.

"For a healthy democracy, even in a 'neutralist' India, will be a stronger bulwark against communism in Asia than a shaky, uncertain state—no matter how loudly or anti-Communist its leaders speak."

Stevenson quoted Nehru as follows:

"Our policy is non-involvement. In any conflict between freedom and tyranny, India will not be neutral. Mere anti-Communist talk will attract no one in Asia."

DeGasperi Dissolves Cabinet

Rome (AP) — Premier Alcide de Gasperi went through the formality yesterday of dissolving his seventh successive Cabinet with every expectation President Luigi Einaudi would ask him to form a new one.

De Gasperi, 72, called yesterday at Rome's ancient Quirinale Palace and handed in his government's resignation to the President in keeping with tradition following the national elections early this month.

Although de Gasperi undoubtedly will be called upon to form the new government, there was some questions whether he will be able to forge one strong enough to weather the parliamentary assaults of the extreme left and right which pared down his coalition's majority at both ends in the elections.

The pro-Western four-party center coalition, led by the Premier's own Christian Democratic party, emerged from the election with a razor-thin majority of 16 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 13 in the Senate. Communist and fellow-traveling Socialists on the left stole some of the seats and Fascists and Monarchists on the right took others.

Conferees Agree On Extension Of Housing Programs

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees late yesterday agreed on a bill extending several federal housing loan guarantee and insurance programs for one year.

The programs expire at midnight today but sponsors of the bill hope to get the extension compromise passed in both the Senate and House today.

The conferees rejected a House provision requiring builders to give a one-year warranty that the construction of a home is in substantial conformity with plans approved by the Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration in guaranteeing a mortgage.

The senators and House members said they agreed such a warranty was "a good idea". But they said so many technicalities were involved they feared requiring the warranty might slow down housing construction.

DR. ALLEN V. ASTIN (above), director of the National Bureau of Standards, tells the Senate Small Business Committee in Washington that 29 Senators wrote to the bureau after repeated tests found "no beneficial effects" from AD-X2, a battery rejuvenator. Astin said that Jess M. Ritchie, of Oakland, Calif., manufacturer of the product, stirred up "pressures" resulting in Astin's dismissal and reinstatement.

$8 Million Approved For Drought Area

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday approved an eight million dollar emergency relief allocation to aid drought-stricken stockmen and farmers in Texas and Oklahoma.

The White House announcement said the aid would go to 152 counties in Texas and 40 in Oklahoma but did not list them. This last was expected to come in the formal announcement of the allocation today and the designation of the counties as disaster areas.

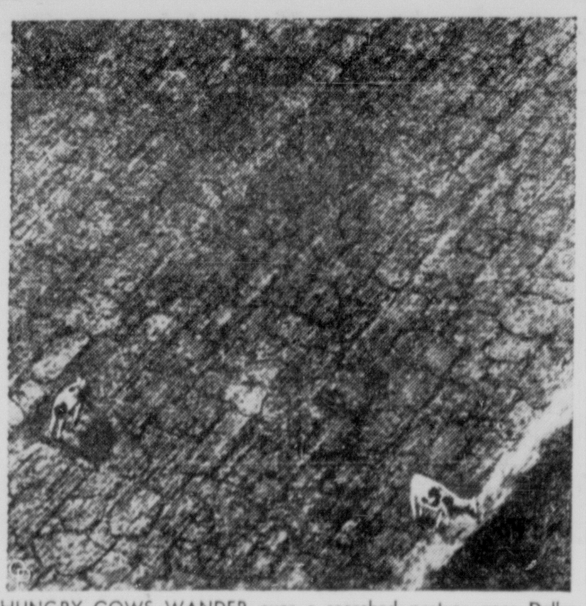

Earlier yesterday, 13 senators introduced a bill in Congress designed to make certain that the government has the money and power to meet disasters such as the Southwest drought, where crops and livestock are endangered.

The legislation would authorize government loans to farmers and stockmen at 4 per cent interest. It also would provide for federal purchase of feed and other supplies for resale to farmers.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) who introduced the measure, told the Senate he had consulted several government agencies "and they do not know whether they have the authority to do the things that must be done."

The machinery for helping Texas and Oklahoma was set into motion after Eisenhower met with Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who had just returned from an inspection of the Texas drought area.

The White House meeting also was attended by Val Peterson, who as civil defense administrator is charged with aiding in disaster relief, and Budget Director Joseph Dodge.

HUNGRY COWS WANDER over a scorched pasture near Dallas, looking for feed and water. Many pastures and ranges in the Southwest have been ravaged by high temperatures and lack of rain. Meanwhile,, Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture, announced emergency measures to ease the economic distress spread throughout parts of drought-stricken Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

Refugee Bill Hearings To Reopen Today

Washington (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday ordered further hearings on an administration-sponsored bill to admit 240,000 "special quota" immigrants to the United States, including 125,000 refugees from Iron Curtain countries.

Those permitted to enter under the new legislation would be in addition to the 154,000 regular quota immigrants admissable annually under the McCarran-Walter Act.

President Eisenhower has thrown the full weight of his administration behind the hotly disputed bill.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of a Senate judiciary subcommittee handling the measure, told newsmen that everyone who has asked to testify has already been given a hearing, but he said additional hearings were demanded by "one of those in opposition" to the bill.

Watkins said the new public hearings will begin today.

Bobo Denies Rumors Of Divorce, Prefers Reconciliation For Sake Of Young Son

By William Glover

New York (AP) — Cinderella sat steadfast in the tower yesterday with the baby prince she hopes will give her blighted romance a happy ending.

Cinderella is 36-year-old Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller.

The tower is a lushly-appointed 15-room duplex atop one of social Park Avenue's swank apartment houses.

And the baby prince is Winthrop Paul, four-year-old son of the wedding of the coal miner's daughter and Winthrop Rockefeller, 40, heir to oil millions.

"I've always wanted a reconciliation for the child's sake," she said regarding rumors of divorce.

"I am doing my best still to avoid problems for him, and to preserve the marriage, even as it is, to protect him."

As she has insisted throughout the three and a half year estrangement, Mrs. Rockefeller told newsmen she had no plans of her own for a divorce, and didn't know whether she would contest one her husband might seek.

He recently went to Little Rock, Ark., to establish a legal residence, and has declined any public comment on his martial situation.

Wearing a salmon-red, high-necked linen dress with black trim which set off her lissome, blonde beauty, Mrs. Rockefeller appeared gay as she saw reporters yesterday.

Frequently she giggled as she told why she had suddenly reappeared Friday after three years during which she lived with her son on her parents' 100-acre farm at Lowell, Ind.

"Basically, this is our home," she said, adding that she foresaw no difficulty about being admitted.

"I just rang the doorbell and they let us in," she stated.

A maid was on duty, Mrs. Rockefeller said. Afterwards she asked the woman to leave.

"She was the pawn in between," Mrs. Rockefeller said, explaining she felt "certain instruction" which the maid had received "might conflict with my own and the child's comfort."

Under a four-day truce arranged by attorneys, Mrs. Rockefeller said she had been allowed unrestricted use of the apartment until sometime today. With her is Viola Geanchos, an Indiana neighbor. Barbara said she had been doing the housework, cooking and shopping for groceries herself — "after the farm this is a breeze."

She was vague as to what or when something further might happen. All such matters, Mrs. Rockefeller said with a wave of her hand, as well as consideration of possible divorce efforts by her husband, are up to the attorneys.

"Everything is confusion," she said with a giggle.

One thing she appeared most determined on—to protect her little boy's privacy—"He doesn't know anything about all this."
